

Hear ye, Hear Ye

By order of the King, we are honored to submit our materials to the Storyland Studios Design Challenge in this year of 2024.

It is our great privilege to share this work with you, and we hope you find it worthy among the many fine considerations your court will entertain.

To provide you with the finest experience, we have crafted an enhanced deck that enchants with curious sights and sounds. This is our (highly) recommended way to engage with the material, tested and approved by nobles and kinsfolk throughout the land, and we strongly encourage you to adventure there.

However, should limitations arise, we've included a backup PDF as well as a video for your perusal. While it does not offer the kingdom's preferred method of engagement, it remains a suitable alternative if needed.

We appreciate your time and good grace, and wish you a most regal experience ahead.

In Royal Favor,
