

Visitors will be given a shell necklace to accompany them on their adventure, each one equipped with an RFID chip to register and track their progress.